EU - CIEMBLY is an international research project funded by the European Union's Horizon Research and Innovation Programme.

EU - CIEMBLY: Creating an Inclusive European Citizens' Assembly addresses the need for the introduction of new forms of citizens' participation and deliberation in EU political life.

Our project aims to create a prototype for a Citizens' Assembly that addresses issues of intersectionality, inclusiveness, and equality.

1. THEORIZING INTERSECTIONALITY:

The first stage is the development of a robust theoretical framework that should underpin intersectionality in the design of Citizens' Assemblies.

2. EVALUATING EXISTING PRACTICES:

In this stage of the project, we assess the effectiveness of selected Citizens' Assemblies at local, national, and EU levels, in terms of equality, inclusiveness, and quality deliberation.

3. PILOTING NEW APPROACHES:

The previous two stages of project will result in the design of a prototype Citizens' Assembly model. This model will then be piloted at the local, national, and EU level. Testing the model in real life will let us to identify which characteristics allow the maximum level of inclusion, therefore addressing issues of intersectional discrimination and the effects of power relations on marginalised groups.

4. RECOMMENDATIONS:

Building upon our research and practical experiences, we aim to develop and disseminate comprehensive guidelines and best practices for the design, implementation, and evaluation of intersectional Citizens' Assemblies, ultimately enhancing democratic practices in Europe and beyond.
